

“The Bible is a living narrative that invites us to be part of it and continue its story. Anabaptism at 500 will provide an excellent set of resources for those who want to live out the Bible’s story. Our global church welcomes this initiative with gratitude.”

CESAR GARCIA, general secretary of Mennonite World Conference

Anabaptism at 500

500 years of faith.
500 years of service.
500 years of community.
500 years of Anabaptism.

MennoMedia is excited to announce Anabaptism at 500, featuring the development of an Anabaptist Bible, the first ever Bible created with insights from five hundred Anabaptist study groups around the world.

Five centuries of Anabaptist history and thought.

Five centuries of shared faith, shared community, and shared conversation.

“The Bible—both the written text and the living Word—has always been at the center of Anabaptist Mennonite identity and witness. This is a unique opportunity to contribute your voice to a five-hundred-year-old conversation around Scripture.”

JOHN D. ROTH, Anabaptism at 500 project director

Get Involved

The Anabaptist Bible will feature marginal notes from five hundred Anabaptist study groups from around the world.

GATHER A STUDY GROUP

Identify a small group of people in your faith community to participate in a four-week Bible study.
